Everyone pays taxes: income taxes, sales taxes, employer taxes, soda taxes, to name a few. It is something that all people have in common. Another thing all people have in common is that nobody likes to pay taxes. Yet even though we complain about taxes and don’t like to pay them, we do. Because if we don’t, eventually the government will knock on the door and arrest us, and our taxes do support many good things.

And the same thing was true in Jesus’ day as well. The Roman Empire collected taxes from the people they conquered and did not appreciate when people refused to pay. And the people who asked Jesus about paying taxes in today’s Gospel knew this. They knew that Jesus was in a no-win situation. If he said not to pay taxes to Rome, the Roman government would punish him. If he said to pay the taxes, the people would be angry at him for compromising his principles.

So how did Jesus reply? He asked whose image was on the coin used to pay the tax. They answered, “Caesar,” so Jesus said, “Then, repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God.” It was an answer that frustrated his opponents, because they could not accuse him of encouraging rebellion nor compromising his religious values.

And what does his answer mean for us today? As I said, all of us pay taxes, we repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar. But how well do we repay to God what belongs to God? What belongs to God? How do we repay it? Perhaps an answer can be found in the writings of Tertullian, a Christian theologian who died in the year 225. He wrote, “Give to Caesar the image of Caesar, which is in coins, and give to God the image of God, which is the human being. So give your money to Caesar, but give yourself to God.” Give yourself to God.

This is a challenge for each one of us. We all give to Caesar, but are we as serious about giving of ourselves to God? As people who live in the United States, we pay taxes and follow its laws, but as the People of God, how well do we follow the laws of God or seek to make present the Reign of God? As Christians, we are citizens of two realms, each of which seek our allegiance. Do we focus more on Caesar or on God? Do we seek to live out the values of the secular world or of the Reign of God? Do we seek to influence our secular world with the values of the Reign of God, or do we allow the values of the secular world — materialism, self-gratification — to take priority? A question all of us need to ask, myself included, is what consumes our time, our energy, our desires, our concerns? Is it God or other things? Is it doing good or doing things that separate us from God or from our families? Do we honor our true image, which is God, or do we honor some idol?

We are created in the image and likeness of God, and our lives must reflect this image. We are called to recognize that each one of us is loved and wanted and created by God. Each one of us has an innate dignity that no one can ever take away. Let us give to God what belongs to God. Let us give of ourselves to make a better world.

Vincent’s People: A Steward’s Chronicle

The lives of St. Vincent parishioners are undoubtedly one of our greatest treasures. We continually seek to increase awareness and faithfulness to our mission to worship, serve, and share. In doing so, we understand the significance of telling the stories of how ordinary people are doing extraordinary things to live a life of discipleship, both within our parish and in the world. This month, we introduce Nancy Pulecio-Velez, an active parishioner at St. Vincent for several years...

I arrived from Colombia in Miami in 1985 with my four children. In 2009 I was appointed Consul General of Colombia in the City of Chicago. Once the work at the consulate ended, I needed to decide whether to stay in Chicago or to go back to Miami.

At the time, my daughter, Alexandra, and her husband, Michael—who used to live in Connecticut, but now live in Chicago—asked for many scholarships in different cities for their three sons. Coincidentally, DePaul University gave the three of them the opportunity to study as classical musicians. Then, I said to myself: “With this, I should continue to stay in Chicago.” And so I did!

Once my grandsons arrived in Chicago for school, they settled in along with Alexandra. We went to thank God at St. Vincent de Paul Church, which was across the street from the boy’s new apartment. When Alexandra and I entered the church, we both felt very grateful. Alexandra said she wanted to sing in this church, so we set out to find the person we should talk to. We then had the pleasure of meeting the parish Music Director, Robert Beatty. From that moment many things continued to come together for us. My grandsons met him as well, and they started working, playing and singing at the parish where they happily continue to do so today.

Something else very special happened to me. I started going only to St. Vincent de Paul for Mass, and one day after a Mass with Father Chris, I was praying and looking at the altar and I felt that Christ had come into my heart to be with me. Since that day, my life changed spiritually. This was something I had to look for elsewhere, but I never experienced it as I did at St. Vincent.

This special feeling opened my heart and I wanted to share with people what happened to me. I put together a Spanish radio program called Ciencia y Espiritualidad along with an event that bears the same name. Ciencia y Espiritualidad is where speakers open the hearts of visitors to help them realize the importance of unifying our mind and spirit when we feel Jesus in ourselves.

Every weekend Mass, as well as any day that St. Vincent de Paul has an event or special invitation, is for me a very "special" moment. I think it is the same for many other special parishioners.

To be part of something that is organized by the parish is a unique opportunity for all of us. I personally invite our readers to get involved by sharing their time, treasure, and talents, and to receive the blessings that you never imagined for you and your family.
COVENANT RENEWAL SERVICE

Cardinal Blase J. Cupich, Archbishop of Chicago, and Bishop Wayne Miller of the Metropolitan Chicago Synod of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America will lead an ecumenical prayer service on Tuesday, October 31, at 7 p.m. at Holy Name Cathedral.

During the service they will renew the covenant between the two local churches, originally signed by Cardinal Joseph Bernardin and Bishop Sherman Hicks in 1989. All Archdiocesan priests, synod pastors and deacons, parishioners, employees, and supporters are invited to attend this historic occasion of recommitment to common prayer and witness for unity as Christians.

To help with planning, please register for the ecumenical prayer service and reception to follow at http://bit.ly/2glKvke.

“Worst parade ever!” “Go, random stranger, Go!” “Toenails are for losers!” The signage was abundant as I ran through the city’s neighborhoods last Sunday in the Chicago Marathon. I’ve run Chicago many times before, but prior to last Sunday, I hadn’t since 2008. I wanted a flat course this year, though, to hopefully qualify to get back to Boston. This, plus the fact that it was the 40th anniversary, and it’s the marathon I grew up with, and the Chicago crowd support is amazing, all prompted me to put my name into the early lottery, and I got in. Bib #38227. I told a friend that marathon officials give these high numbers to the really fast runners. “Oh, I’m sure,” she said.

I needed a 4:10 to return to Boston, and I had it…until I didn’t. You’ve maybe heard athletes speak of hitting the wall. Per Wikipedia, it’s “a condition of sudden fatigue and loss of energy which is caused by the depletion of glycogen stores in the liver and muscles.” I don’t know about all of that, but I know that coming into the 20-mile marker, my legs became leaden and I slowed down, then down again, then down some more. Every marathoner is tired near the end. Even Galen Rupp. But there’s a line between being tired and having nothing left, and last Sunday, I crossed it. I brought my 25th marathon home in 4:21 and change. Not the race I wanted, but still, I think, a good one.

After claiming a dry shirt and my cell phone at the bag check, I found a quiet place to sit down to wait for my daughter, as Sarah was somewhere behind me in that pack of 43,000+ runners who came to finish the race. I also took the time to nurse my physical and emotional wounds. The former pain is obvious. The latter pain is more subtly defined. It’s the pain of a hard-sought goal, missed. I had told several people of my race plan, so when I looked at my cell phone, I had texts waiting. “How did you do?” “How did you do?” “How did you do?” I delivered the disappointing news over and over and over again. Everyone was supportive in return, but one friend’s response still touches me: “You ran great and delivered the race our Creator gave you today...”

The Herodians in today’s Gospel look to trap Jesus by asking him if it’s lawful or not to pay the census tax to Caesar. When they produce the payment coin, Jesus asks whose image it carries. “Caesar’s,” they say. “Then repay to Caesar what belongs to Caesar and to God what belongs to God,” Jesus replies. If he is saying return Caesar’s image to Caesar, then he is also saying return God’s image to God. And who carries God’s image? We do. “You delivered the race our Creator gave you,” Russ said. It’s funny. I asked God for strength several times that day, arguing that since he put it in me to run in the first place, I was really only out there because of him. In a larger context, when we do what God puts in us to do—when we use our gifts for the good—we image him. In this larger context may each of us, every day, run the good, good race.

TREASURES FROM OUR TRADITION

What makes the Eucharistic Prayers for Masses with Children different from the others? First, there is the intended assembly, which is described as comprised of mostly children of school age. There are three Eucharistic Prayers for Masses with Children available to us now in the missal. The first one has a very simple form, easily grasped by even a young child. The second has a great deal of participation by the assembly--repeated sung acclamations. The third has a number of variations that can be tricky for a priest to handle if he hasn't prepared carefully.

All of this work does point to a true treasure of our tradition: children are part of the Sunday assembly, precisely because they are baptized members of Christ's body. By contrast, the churches of the Reformation tend to look upon children as members in training, and see worship as an adult activity. Sunday school happens downstairs while the adults celebrate Holy Communion upstairs. In a phrase, that's not Catholic. Children belong to Christ and to the assembly. So, the desire to care for the children in the assembly, to draw them into the prayer, and to adapt our rituals and texts to their needs is deeply Catholic, a true pastoral effort to help draw everyone into the praise of God.

Celebration of the Sacraments at St. Vincent de Paul

Reconciliation: Saturday afternoon, 4:15-4:50 p.m. in the Reconciliation Room near the Sheffield entrance of the church, or you can call the Parish Center for an appointment.

Baptism: Please contact Mary Carter (mcarte40@depaul.edu) to register for baptism preparation, which is held on the 3rd Monday of each month at 7:00 p.m. in the Parish Center. You may attend this class either before or after your child is born.

Following preparation and after your child is born, please contact Mary to schedule a baptism date. Baptisms are celebrated on the 4th Sunday of the month at 11:30 a.m., or during a regular Sunday mass. Baptism is not celebrated during the Lenten season.

Marriage: Please contact Mary Carter (mcarte40@depaul.edu) to discuss the celebration of the sacrament of marriage here at St. Vincent’s, or concerning preparation and prenuptial matters if you are getting married in another parish.

For baptized Catholics, marriage is celebrated within a Catholic church in the presence of a priest or deacon. The first item to plan is the selection of a date and time. In order to celebrate the sacrament of marriage at St. Vincent, one needs to be a registered parishioner for four months prior to discussion of a date. DePaul University faculty, staff, students, and alumni may also celebrate their wedding here, provided either the bride, groom, or both are Roman Catholic, registered at a parish and actively engaged in the practice of their faith. Weddings are celebrated on Saturdays only, at 1:00 p.m. or 3:00 p.m. Weddings are not celebrated during the season of Lent, Holy Week or Saturdays that conflict with other parish events. Mary confirms all reservations for weddings.

Confirmation: Catholic adults who would like to receive the sacrament of Confirmation are invited to contact Rebecca at rcarmic1@depaul.edu. Confirmation preparation sessions are held Sunday evenings February through May.

RCIA: Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) is a program that prepares adults to receive the sacrament(s) of Baptism, Confirmation and First Communion. Preparation sessions are held on Sundays from 11:15 a.m.-1:00 p.m. and celebration of the sacraments occurs at the Easter Vigil mass. To learn more or to enroll in the RCIA program, please contact Rebecca at rcarmic1@depaul.edu.

First Communion: Requires two years of classes. Family catechesis (classes for parents and children) religious education classes are held monthly. Please contact Rebecca at rcarmic1@depaul.edu.

Priesthood/Religious Life: Please contact Fr. Jim Osendorf, CM, by phone at 1-800-depaul-1 or by email at vocations@vincentian.org to learn more about becoming a priest or religious.

Anointing of the Sick: To receive the sacrament of anointing of the sick, please contact the Parish Center.
