Psychologists tell us that every child goes through a stage where they discover who they are, that they are different from their mother and father, that they are an individual person. They also pass through a stage where everything is theirs, where they are the center of the universe. This stage helps them discover who they are and become an individual.

This is a part of growing for a child, but if a person doesn't move past this stage and remains this way as a young person or an adult, it is not healthy. They become selfish and narcissistic, continuing to think that everything is about them alone. Each of us knows people who are like this, who never think about other people and their needs or wants. Perhaps we can be like this ourselves at times.

This is the choice the Gospel presents to us today. Will I be selfish and only think about what I want and desire, or will I be generous and give to others, to God? It is a stark choice that is at the heart of the Gospel and at the heart of understanding who Jesus is.

For Jesus, his entire life was about giving of himself for others. It was focused on loving God and loving those around him. When he asks the disciples, “Who do you say that I am?” he wants to know if they understand him, if they understand that his life and his mission is about serving others in sacrificial love. More so, he wants to know if they recognize that he is more than just a holy man or a healer, that he truly comes from God and shares God's life and love for the world.

Jesus knew that the path of salvation, the path of love, led to suffering and the cross. He knew it would require a complete giving of self, a generosity that is difficult. And Peter was telling him not to do it. The choice of being selfish or being generous is given, and Peter does not yet understand. This is perhaps why he calls him “Satan” because we are always tempted to think only about ourselves. We are always tempted to think and believe that it is all about me, that it is more important to save myself than give. Giving always makes us more open, and more vulnerable. A person cannot truly love another without the possibility of having their heart broken. It is a risk that we take. It is the risk that Jesus took. It is the risk that God takes on us each and every day.

If we have faith in Christ, then we are led by love to generosity, we are led by love to sacrifice, we are led by love to love. If we believe in Christ, then we are led to demonstrate this belief by loving acts of kindness towards others. It is through our example and way of life that we bring closer the Reign of God in its fullness, that we bring others into this Reign.

This is the challenge of following Jesus. This is the challenge of the cross. It is not easy to give of ourselves as Jesus did, yet we know that God is with us, as he was with Jesus, to give us the courage and strength to do what is right, to be generous, to be loving.

Meeting for Parishioners and School Families

Thank you for your participation as we have been discerning the best church, parish and school structures to revitalize the greater ministerial vitality of our Catholic communities.

Over the past several months, the Grouping Feedback and Discernment Team, which includes representatives from all of the parishes in our grouping, met to review and discern the future structure for our area. Based on their meetings and discussions, the group submitted a report to an Archdiocesan Commission, which includes representatives from across the Archdiocese.

Based on the Grouping Team’s feedback report, as well as other considerations, the Commission will present a recommendation to Cardinal Cupich and the Archdiocese’s Presbyteral Council.

A final decision from Cardinal Cupich and the Archdiocese’s Presbyteral Council is expected within the next week. As such, we want to invite you to join us for a community meeting where all parishioners and school families from across our grouping will gather together to learn of the decision and discuss next steps for our area.

Meeting Details:
Friday, September 21, 2018 - 7 p.m.
St. Teresa of Avila Church, 1037 W Armitage Ave, Chicago, IL 60614

We ask you to remember that Jesus Christ is calling each of us to renew His Church … to find new and creative ways to make disciples, build communities and inspire witness.

May God continue to bless us all on this journey.

We look forward to seeing you on Friday, September 21.
SHARING THE FAITH—
CATHOLIC EDUCATION: FROM AND FOR FAITH

What are the roots of and reasons for a Catholic education? As Dr. Thomas Groome of Boston College explains, Catholic education reflects and proposes the deep truths and values of the faith itself. Beginning with Jesus as the core and developing throughout the 2,000-year-old conversation between faith and culture that we call the Catholic intellectual tradition, this faith foundation and purpose should permeate the whole curriculum of Catholic education.

Care for Our Common Home

“Our goal is not to amass information or to satisfy curiosity, but rather to become painfully aware, to dare to turn what is happening to the world into our own personal suffering and thus to discover what each of us can do about it.”

-Pope Francis, Laudato Si

Inspired by Pope Francis’ teachings in Laudato Si, this weekend, September 15th & 16th, St. Vincent’s is taking a new step as stewards of our planet and Common Home.

Recycling bins have been added at the entrances of the church, and we encourage everyone to recycle their worship aids and used bulletins when they leave each week.

In celebration of this addition, we invite you to join us at the back of church after mass today to learn more about recycling, Laudato Si, and to help us plan for the future.

BIGSHOULDERSFUND.ORG/TAX-CREDIT

Do you want to direct your Illinois tax dollars to help deserving students access a scholarship?

The new Illinois Tax Credit Scholarship Program/Invest in Kids Act provides donors a unique opportunity to contribute to scholarships that help lower-income families send their children to private schools — while reducing their own tax bill on dollars otherwise owed to the state. Big Shoulders Fund has been approved to participate as a Scholarship Granting Organization (SGO) through this program.

Why Big Shoulders Fund?

- 30 years of impact with more than $300M raised.
- The largest K-12 scholarship program in Illinois.
- Named one of top 20 nonprofits by Chicago Magazine.
- Charity Navigator 4-Star Rating for 11 years.

How to Donate

1. Go to mytax.illinois.gov to create a MyTax Illinois account. As part of the process of creating an account, you must request a “Letter ID” from the Illinois Department of Revenue via the “Individuals” menu on MyTax Illinois, which will be sent via U.S. mail within 7 to 10 business days. Once you receive the “Letter ID,” you will be able to create an account. Taxpayers should request the “Letter ID” now, before the program goes live on Jan. 2, to avoid processing delays. The credits are awarded on a first-come, first-served basis and donors must have a MyTax Illinois account in order to reserve credits.

2. On Jan. 2, 2018, log in to your MyTax Illinois account to apply for a “Contribution Authorization Certificate” in the amount you plan to contribute toward the Scholarship Granting Organization. Also, designate the region and organization to which your contribution should be directed. (e.g., Big Shoulders Fund, Region 1)

3. You will receive your Contribution Authorization Certificate via your MyTax Illinois account within three days. You then have 60 days to send your contribution and your authorization certificate to a Scholarship Granting Organization such as Big Shoulders Fund.

“Follow me...” I’m not sure how frequently Jesus says it—or words akin to it—in the four Gospels, but it’s certainly several. I’d have to do some research to quote you chapter and verse, but off the top of my head, I know he says it early on when calling his first disciples as they are casting their nets into the Sea of Galilee (and Peter and Andrew immediately respond to the call). I know he says it to the rich man who asks Jesus what he needs to do to inherit eternal life (and the rich man goes away sad when he learns he has to sell all of his possessions). I know he says it to a tax collector named Levi (here, Levi not only follows Jesus, he serves dinner at his place in Christ’s honor, and invites his tax collector friends to join the party). And I know he says it post-Resurrection to Peter after Jesus asks Peter three times if he loves him (and Peter insists three times that he does).

“Follow me...” We hear the direction again in today’s Gospel. The passage begins with Jesus first asking of his disciples, “Who do people say that I am?” before making it way more personal: “But who do you say that I am?” Ultimately, this is the crux of it. Peter answers, “You are the Christ,” and if we answer the same, we really have only two choices: to get onboard, or to walk away. When Jesus tells Peter of his upcoming death in the first of Christ’s three Passion predictions, Peter will have none of it, and is duly chided in turn. Jesus then spells it out for all of us: “Whoever wishes to come after me must deny himself, take up his cross, and follow me. For whoever wishes to save his live will lose it, but whoever loses his life for my sake and that of the gospel will save it.” Or, to quote the Christian martyr Jim Elliot, “He is no fool who gives up what he cannot keep, to gain what he cannot lose.”

“Follow me...” OK. But what exactly does it mean to you and me? I think James spells it out well in the second reading, at least he does if we’re able to read between the lines. “What good is it, my brothers and sisters,” he writes, “if someone says he has faith but does not have works? Can that faith save him? If a brother or sister has nothing to wear and has no food for the day, and one of you says to them, “Go in peace, keep warm, and eat well,” but you do not give them the necessities of the body, what good is it? So also faith of itself, if it does not have works, is dead...” I’ve long held that people who go to church on Sunday, then cut off fellow worshippers in the parking lot after Mass are missing the point. So let’s not miss the point. Dictionary.com offers several definitions for follow, including, “to go or come after,” “to move behind in the same direction,” “to accept as a guide or leader,” and “to accept the authority of or give allegiance to.” These all work in the context of following Jesus, but I like these even more: “to imitate or copy; use as an exemplar,” and “to try for or attain to.” Discipleship is not easy. Check out Isaiah. Then check out who Jesus spends most of his time with: the poor and the marginalized. “Follow me,” he says. If, like Peter, we accept Jesus as the Christ, we again really have only two choices: to get onboard, or to walk away.
The Archdiocese of Chicago to Hold a Mass for Hope and Healing at Holy Family Parish

The Archdiocese of Chicago’s Office of Assistance Ministry will hold a Mass for Hope and Healing on Saturday, October 20, 2018 at 11 a.m. at Holy Family Church, 1080 West Roosevelt Road, Chicago. Fr. Larry Dowling, pastor of St. Agatha Church, will celebrate the Mass, where we will offer prayers for the ongoing healing of child and youth sexual abuse survivors, their families and the Church.

Michael Hoffman and Jim Richter, both victims-survivors, will give witness on behalf of victim-survivors of clergy sexual abuse. Attendees will include clergy, victim-survivors of clergy sexual abuse, family members and caregivers of survivors, church lay ministry staff, Catholic school leadership and many others who are committed to the protection and safety of children and youth.

“I attend this Mass every year and I am grateful for the opportunity to share something in common with abuse survivors in this heartfelt and prayerful liturgy,” said Hoffman. “This type of outreach has helped me to reconcile myself to the traumatic loss I experienced at the hands of my abuser. I am thankful for this healing opportunity.”

The Office for Assistance Ministry works to provide pastoral care, support and resources to victims-survivors of clerical sexual abuse and their loved ones in their efforts to achieve psychological, emotional and spiritual healing. The office was established as one of the first victim assistance ministries in the United States in 1992 to respond to the sexual abuse of minors by Archdiocesan clergy. Since its creation, it has provided services and support to more than 400 victims-survivors and their family members.

“I am grateful for the energy, support and company of others on this journey of hope and healing,” said Richter. “I pray that other victims who live in silence with shame and guilt will also find a way to emerge from the shadows of pain and loneliness to find a measure of peace and comfort.”

For more information on the Mass for Hope and Healing, visit the Office for the Protection of Children and Youth website (https://protect.archchicago.org/).

We welcome into the church this weekend:
