Often we are focused on ourselves. It is more important what I think, what I want, what I feel, as opposed to what is good for others. The idea of giving and sacrifice for others is not understandable to the world. At the same time, there are good things in focusing on self. Without underestimating the positive that this value can have, we need to recognize that beyond personal independence or individualism there is a very different Christian value that calls us to live a life of mutual and sincere communion with others. In today’s readings, we see how since the beginning, God gives us an alternative to life tied to communion.

The sign of the social nature of humanity, of their communion, is marriage, the sacred bond in which “the two become one flesh.” In marriage, we see how God loves us and is faithful to us. We are called to do what we can to honor this union, this communion.

The other sign is the Eucharist. We are many, but one body. We share one bread and one cup. Marriage and Eucharist are signs of how we share our lives and live together as brothers and sisters. We recognize our equality that we have the same dignity as children of God.

It is sad that this union isn’t important for some. The union of marriage is broken by divorce, domestic violence, sexism and the lack of equality among partners. And the union of humanity is broken by division, poverty, war and racism. We are called to fight together for the dignity of family life, for the dignity of all of our brothers and sisters in Christ.
Parishioners at St. Vincent’s,

I think I speak for the entirety of our group of pilgrims when I say that none of us expected that our pilgrimage on the Camino de Santiago would be as invigorating, inspiring, and joyful as it was.

That’s not to say we expected it to be none of those things; we just didn’t expect it to be that invigorating, that inspiring, and that joyful of an adventure—and even amidst the miles (and days, to be perfectly honest) when the grind of the Camino set into our blistered feet, aching shoulders, and weary minds, we were encouraged by the company of one another.

Willingly walking ten to fifteen miles a day for eleven consecutive days is ludicrous—even for religious reasons, I think (is it so surprising, then, that it was Fr. Christopher Robinson who persuaded us all to do it)—but the company we kept on this pilgrimage made the Camino more than its pastoral views, mile markers, and centuries-old history that connected us to past generations of pilgrims. Traveling with this group of people made the experience indelible and precious, like a well-worn gemstone.

And this Camino, this mark on our hearts, would not have been possible without your generosity. We accomplish nothing in isolation; nothing is ever self-made, and that truth is quintessentially so with our Camino. Just as we supported one another through the heat, rocky terrain, and around the many, many cow pies, you supported us many months before that. Through your donations, you truly gave us the gift of your belief. And we believe that you have not believed in vain.

From the bottom of our hearts, we thank you for all your help in making our Camino a reality.

Buen Camino! May God bless you!

Sincerely,

Fr. Chris, Amanda, Georgie, Joshua, Danielle, Victor, Gabe, Gus, Mel, Steph, Michael, Selena, and Julia

SETON SOUP KITCHEN
Vincentian Mission Sunday

The Seton Sandwich Window began in 1980 from the front of the parish center. Since then, the generosity of many people has allowed us to expand the menu and serve guests six days per week. Now we serve over 31,000 meals per year.

The second weekend of every Month will be Vincentian Mission Sunday. We ask that you bring donations to church with you. You can give it to an usher, put it on the altar, or take your donation to the parish office.

This month we are asking for donations of paper goods such as small paper plates and napkins.

Thank you for your continued support of our Vincentian mission to serve our sisters and brothers in need.

Visit this distinctive Lincoln Park church long associated with DePaul University. Easily identified by its green copper-topped towers, St. Vincent de Paul serves a parish founded in 1875 by the Vincentian order. The present-day church was completed in 1897, considered to represent architect James Egan’s finest work. It took 17 more years to furnish and decorate the elaborate interior with stained glass, Carrara marble, and tapestries. The church is constructed of Indiana limestone blending Romanesque architecture like rounded doorways and arcades with French Gothic details such as the large, soaring windows. This includes the strikingly modern south-facing rose window installed after a fire destroyed the original window in 1955.
On Indigenous People’s Day, which is also Columbus Day, Monday, October 8, 2018, Industry of the Ordinary will hold a silent vigil and remembrance for the many thousands of displaced people who have recently tried, and often failed, to find safe harbor. Titled Genuflect, this public performance will begin at Saint Vincent de Paul Church (1010 W Webster) at 5:30 pm. The artists will inflate a life raft inside of the church and then lead a procession east to Lake Michigan, where they will set adrift.

Knowing that I have a thing for things celestial, and presuming that I’d take her along, my wife gifted me on Valentine’s Day with two tickets to the Adler Planetarium. Of course she’d be my guest! And while it took us over seven months to fit the visit in, we finally pulled it off this past Wednesday. It had been years since we’d been there prior, and I immediately wondered when we walked in what had taken us so long—Valentine’s Day gift aside—in returning. I like the feel of the place. And as we went to some of the shows and studied some of the exhibits, I recalled the line from Elton John’s hit, Rocket Man “All this science, I don’t understand/ It’s just my job five days a week…”

Still, the Adler makes “all this science” fun for regular Joes like me with intel we can use to impress our friends at future cosmic get-togethers. Things like, “On Planet Keplar-70B, the Bean would melt in one second” (I told my wife that this must be assuming a space ship or transport vessel with crazy good heat shields to keep the Bean safe as it approaches Keplar-70B in the first place). Or, “It’s -380° on Pluto” (impressive, but apparently not impressive enough to make Pluto a planet again…). Or, “Footprints on the moon will last millions of years” (which reminds me of my favorite celestial joke: Q - Why are there no good restaurants on the moon? A - No atmosphere).

Gail and I both walked away from our first sky show with an unfathomable factoid about the Sun. Namely, that the Sun contains 99%+ of the Solar System’s mass. Huh? Like, is that even possible? I looked up some Sun facts later online and learned a lot more interesting stuff about our nearest star. Stuff like, “one million Earths could fit inside the Sun,” and “the Sun is an almost perfect sphere” and “the temperature inside the Sun can reach 15 million degrees Celsius” (or, as Shakespeare put it in his 18th sonnet, “Sometime too hot the eye of heaven shines…”). But 99%+ of the mass of the entire Solar System? C’mon...

When we consider today’s Gospel, it’s easy to look inward to think it’s all about us, what with Jesus saying that divorce in marriage is not consistent with God’s original plan (“for this reason, a man shall leave his father and mother and be joined to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh”), and what with him saying that we must welcome and emulate the little ones (“Amen, I say to you, whoever does not accept the kingdom of God like a child will not enter it”). But as I read somewhere once about today’s familiar Gospel text, perhaps this passage is more about God than about us. Or more specifically, more about how we’re human, and God is not. We have our limits, after all. We break promises. We renge. We walk away. But God has no limits, never breaks promises/reneges/walks away. My point? If the Sun is 99%+ of the Solar System, surely the Son is—or should be—100% of everything we do, for we are nothing without him. The Son lights our way. The Son sustains us. And, the Son took the nails for us so that we might stand blameless in the cosmos before the Father. Now we’re really talking unfathomable…
The Archdiocese of Chicago to Hold a Mass for Hope and Healing at Holy Family Parish

The Archdiocese of Chicago’s Office of Assistance Ministry will hold a Mass for Hope and Healing on Saturday, October 20, 2018 at 11 a.m. at Holy Family Church, 1080 West Roosevelt Road, Chicago. Fr. Larry Dowling, pastor of St. Agatha Church, will celebrate the Mass, where we will offer prayers for the ongoing healing of child and youth sexual abuse survivors, their families and the Church.

Michael Hoffman and Jim Richter, both victims-survivors, will give witness on behalf of victim-survivors of clergy sexual abuse. Attendees will include clergy, victim-survivors of clergy sexual abuse, family members and caregivers of survivors, church lay ministry staff, Catholic school leadership and many others who are committed to the protection and safety of children and youth.

“I attend this Mass every year and I am grateful for the opportunity to share something in common with abuse survivors in this heartfelt and prayerful liturgy,” said Hoffman. “This type of outreach has helped me to reconcile myself to the traumatic loss I experienced at the hands of my abuser. I am thankful for this healing opportunity.”

The Office for Assistance Ministry works to provide pastoral care, support and resources to victims-survivors of clerical sexual abuse and their loved ones in their efforts to achieve psychological, emotional and spiritual healing. The office was established as one of the first victim assistance ministries in the United States in 1992 to respond to the sexual abuse of minors by Archdiocesan clergy. Since its creation, it has provided services and support to more than 400 victims-survivors and their family members.

“I am grateful for the energy, support and company of others on this journey of hope and healing,” said Richter. “I pray that other victims who live in silence with shame and guilt will also find a way to emerge from the shadows of pain and loneliness to find a measure of peace and comfort.”

For more information on the Mass for Hope and Healing, visit the Office for the Protection of Children and Youth website (https://protect.archchicago.org/).

Celebration of the Sacraments at St. Vincent de Paul

Reconciliation: Saturday afternoon, 4:15-4:50 p.m. in the Reconciliation Room near the Sheffield entrance of the church, or you can call the Parish Center for an appointment.

Baptism: Please contact Mary Carter (mcarte40@depaul.edu) to register for baptism preparation, which is held on the 3rd Monday of each month at 7:00 p.m. in the Parish Center. You may attend this class either before or after your child is born.

Following preparation and after your child is born, please contact Mary to schedule a baptism date. Baptisms are celebrated on the 4th Sunday of the month at 11:30 a.m., or during a regular Sunday mass. Baptism is not celebrated during the Lenten season.

Marriage: Please contact Mary Carter (mcarte40@depaul.edu) to discuss the celebration of the sacrament of marriage here at St. Vincent’s, or concerning preparation and prenuptial matters if you are getting married in another parish.

For baptized Catholics, marriage is celebrated within a Catholic church in the presence of a priest or deacon. The first item to plan is the selection of a date and time. In order to celebrate the sacrament of marriage at St. Vincent, one needs to be a registered parishioner for four months prior to discussion of a date. DePaul University faculty, staff, students, and alumni may also celebrate their wedding here, provided either the bride, groom, or both are Roman Catholic, registered at a parish and actively engaged in the practice of their faith. Weddings are celebrated on Saturdays only, at 1:00 p.m. or 3:00 p.m. Weddings are not celebrated during the season of Lent, Holy Week or Saturdays that conflict with other parish events. Mary confirms all reservations for weddings.

Confirmation: Catholic adults who would like to receive the sacrament of Confirmation are invited to contact Rebecca at rcarmic1@depaul.edu. Confirmation preparation sessions are held Sunday evenings February through May.

RCIA: Rite of Christian Initiation of Adults (RCIA) is a program that prepares adults to receive the sacrament(s) of Baptism, Confirmation and First Communion. Preparation sessions are held on Sundays from 11:15 a.m.-1:00 p.m. and celebration of the sacraments occurs at the Easter Vigil mass. To learn more or to enroll in the RCIA program, please contact Rebecca at rcarmic1@depaul.edu.
